

Live Your Live

Live your life like there is no tomorrow. Live your life, let go of all the pain and sorrow.

Live your life doing the things you love to do. Live your life knowing only God can judge you.

Live your life and don't forget who you are. Live your life knowing you're going to get far.

Live your life feeling alive and full of zest. Live your life, don't worry about passing someone's test.

We know to live for today 'cause you are not promised tomorrow. Time is something we can't buy or borrow.

So live your life in a way that pleases you. Live your life laughing and not worrying what people think of you.

Thank You FOR READING!

Below is a question to reflect on from this piece. Feel free to also use it as a conversation starter with a fellow reader, or even a loved one on the outside!

What do you think prevents us from living our lives "laughing and not worrying what people think of [us]," in Stacey's words?

How would you advise others – or yourself – to let go of that particular worry?

To choose happiness and zest instead of anger or sorrow?

We'd love to hear what you thought of the piece, or if you've had any meaningful conversations as a result. Or perhaps you'd like to share an expression of your own (visual art or creative writing). You are always welcome to write to us at Shining Light at P.O. Box 267, Annville, PA 17003.

Note: We will not be able to provide a response to your letter or receipt of your submission, but know that we value your feedback and contributions and will take them seriously.*
